

NWESC is dedicated to promoting a mutually beneficial relationship between horses and humans by encouraging community responsibility and stewardship for all horses.

Northwest Equine Stewardship Center (NWESC) is a non-profit organization that was founded in 2008 and that is dedicated to providing professional level rehabilitative care (like veterinary care, re-feeding assistance, hoof care, rehabilitative therapies and training) to rescue horses. This is done by working together with local equine rescue organizations to help neglected and abused horses get the care they need and find forever homes.

We do this by working collaboratively with other local horse rescue organizations that take in and adopt out rescue horses so that we can focus on providing the professional level care that these horses need. This cooperative networking makes NWESC unique by allowing us to help numerous horses along with a wide range of horse rescue organizations.

Additionally, beyond rescue horse rehabilitation, NWESC is also committed to building programs that provide educational and therapeutic opportunities for people and promotes the prevention of unwanted horses and neglect. We offer a comprehensive educational program along with on-going events and clinics and provide unique, hands-on learning opportunities for veterinary and vet tech/assistant students in which students are able to gain real-life experience with horses in need – creating a win-win situation!

NWESC strives to bring the horse community together and form a network of concerned stewards working cohesively toward a solution to the problem of animal abuse and neglect. We encourage you to please visit our website at www.nwesc.org for more information on what we do, our programs and our successes.

Please help us reach our goal of sustaining donations totaling $10,000/month ($120,000/year) so that we can continue our efforts in assisting these abused and neglected horses and to be able to continue to host our educational programs for both the community and for veterinary and vet tech students.

We have five donor categories to help you find a sustainable donation level that fits your budget. Our long term donors, at any level, ensure that the efforts that NWESC makes continue to be possible! Thank you for choosing to support us and the horses that we serve!
